ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT ASSESSMENT

Division 1

Environmental Impact Assessment of Proposed Activity

§ 3. Mandatory environmental impact assessment

(1) Environmental impact is assessed when:

- 1) applying for development consent or for the amendment of development consent whereby the proposed activity which is the reason for applying for the development consent or for the amendment of the development consent potentially results in significant environmental impact;
- 2) if an activity is planned whereby, according to objective information, it cannot be precluded that the activity alone or in conjunction with other activities may potentially significantly and adversely affect the protection purpose of a Natura 2000 site, and which is not directly related to or necessary for the protection procedure of the site.

(2) If the sole purpose of the proposed activity is to ensure national security or to solve an emergency, environmental impact does not need to be assessed, provided that assessment may harm the attainment of these purposes, except in the event specified in clause 2) of subsection (1) of this section.

(3) If environmental impact is not assessed based on subsection (2) of this section, the provisions of §§ 3¹–30 of this Act will not be applied.

(4) The omission of the environmental impact assessment specified in subsection (2) of this section is decided by the Government of the Republic on a proposal of the minister responsible for the field.

[RT I, 03.07.2017, 3 – entry into force 13.07.2017]

§ 3¹. Purpose of environmental impact assessment

(1) The purpose of environmental impact assessment is to give to the issuer of the development consent information on the significant environmental impact of the proposed activity and its reasonable alternatives and regarding the choice of the most suitable solution for the proposed activity, which makes it possible to prevent or minimise adverse impact on the environment and to promote sustainable development.

(2) Upon assessment of environmental impact, the following is identified, described and assessed: the direct and indirect significant environmental impact of the proposed activity on the environmental elements such as earth, soil, water, ambient air, climate, landscape and natural diversity, on human health, welfare and property, on cultural heritage, protected natural objects and their mutual links; the significant environmental impact arising from a possible major accident or catastrophe.

[RT I, 03.07.2017, 3 – entry into force 13.07.2017]

§ 3². Environmental impact assessment proceedings

Environmental impact assessment proceedings consist of the following stages:

- 1) the making of a decision to initiate or not to initiate environmental impact assessment, and notifying of the decision;
- 2) the drawing up of an environmental impact assessment programme, including determining the scope of the environmental impact assessment;
- 3) the assessment of the potentially significant environmental impact arising from the proposed activity and drawing up a report;
- 4) asking the authorities concerned for an opinion on the environmental impact assessment programme and report, and publishing the programme and the report, taking into account the characteristics of environmental impact assessment in a transboundary context;
- 5) verifying the compliance of the environmental impact assessment programme and report with requirements, making decisions to declare these compliant with requirements, and notification of the decisions;
- 6) taking the results of the environmental impact assessment into account upon making a decision to grant or not to grant development consent, and notifying of the decision.

[RT I, 03.07.2017, 3 – entry into force 13.07.2017]

§ 3³. Environmental measures

(1) For the purposes of this Division, 'environmental measures' means measures for prevention, avoidance, reduction, mitigation and, in a justified case, for remedying of adverse environmental impact arising from implementing the proposed activity. Environmental monitoring is also included among environmental measures.

(2) Environmental measures, including the type of indicators monitored by way of environmental monitoring and the duration of monitoring, must be proportionate to the nature, location and scope of the proposed activity as well as to the estimated environmental impact. Upon ordering and carrying out environmental impact, existing environmental monitoring is taken into account.
