§ 13. Conditions for acquisition of qualifying holding and bases for prohibition of acquisition

(1) The Tax and Customs Board has the right to specify a term for the acquirer of a qualifying holding, during which the acquirer has the right to acquire the qualifying holding or increase such holding above the limit specified in subsection 11 (2) or gain control over a gambling operator. The term shall not exceed 12 months. The acquirer of a qualifying holding is required to promptly notify the Tax and Customs Board of conclusion of a transaction or a decision not to conclude a transaction by which qualifying holding is acquired or increased or control is gained over a gambling operator.

(2) A qualifying holding may be acquired or increased above the limits specified in subsection 11 (2) of this Act or control may be gained over the gambling operator if the Tax and Customs Board does not prohibit, by a precept, the acquisition or increase of a qualifying holding or gaining control over the gambling operator upon expiry of 60 working days after receipt of the initial notification from the acquirer of the qualifying holding as specified in subsection 11 (2) of this Act.

(3) The Tax and Customs Board may prohibit, by a precept, the acquisition of a qualifying holding, increase of such holding above the limits specified in subsection 11 (2) of this Act or gaining control over a gambling operator if:

- 6) the gambling operator would become a company controlled by a foreign gambling operator that is not governed by requirements which are at least equivalent to the requirements provided for in this Act or state supervision is not exercised over such foreign gambling operator or the supervisory authority of the country of location of such foreign gambling operator has no legal basis or possibility to co-operate with the Tax and Customs Board.

(4) After the acquisition or increase of a qualifying holding or gaining control over a gambling operator, the Tax and Customs Board may issue a precept according to which the acquisition of the qualifying holding or the gaining of control over the gambling operator is deemed to be contrary to this Act if:

- 1) the acquirer of the qualifying holding has submitted incorrect or misleading information or documents;
- 2) the activities of a shareholder or representative of the acquirer of the qualifying holding significantly compromise the sound and prudent management of the gambling operator or
- 3) other circumstances specified in subsection (3) of this section become evident.

(6) Compliance with a precept of the Tax and Customs Board provided in subsections (3)–(5) of this section is also mandatory for a gambling operator, the person maintaining its share register or another person who organises the exercise of voting rights.

§ 14. Consequences of illegal acquisition of holding

(1) As a result of a transaction by which a qualifying holding is acquired or increased, the person is not entitled to exercise the voting rights determined by the holding, and the person's holding or the votes represented by the holding shall not be included in the quorum of the general meeting if:

- 1) the transaction is contrary to a precept issued by the Tax and Customs Board which has entered into force;
- 2) the Tax and Customs Board has not been notified of the transaction in accordance with the procedure provided for in subsections 11 (2)–(4) of this Act or
- 3) the transaction has been concluded after the expiry of the term specified in subsection 13 (1) of this Act or before the expiry of the term specified in subsection 13 (2) of this Act.

(2) If votes representing a holding acquired or increased by such a transaction, in the case of which any of the circumstances specified in subsection (1) of this section exist, are included in the quorum of the general meeting and influence the adoption of a resolution of the general meeting, a court may declare the resolution of the general meeting invalid on the basis of a petition of the Tax and Customs Board, a shareholder or a member of the management board or supervisory board of the company, if the petition is submitted within two months after the adoption of the resolution of the general meeting.

(3) If any of the circumstances specified in subsection (1) of this section exist with regard to a transaction, it is prohibited to exercise any rights arising from the transaction whereby control is gained over a gambling operator. Upon exercise of the rights enabling control arising from a transaction whereby control was to be gained over a gambling operator by a person and in the case of which any of the circumstances specified in subsection (1) of this section exist, a court may declare the exercise of the rights invalid on the basis of a petition of the Tax and Customs Board, a shareholder or a member of the supervisory board or management board of the company, if the petition is submitted within two months after the exercise of the rights.

§ 15. Notification of changes in holding

(1) If a person intends to transfer shares in an amount which would result in the person losing a qualifying holding in a gambling operator or if the person reduces the holding thereof in such manner that it falls below any of the limits specified in subsection 11 (2) of this Act or foregoes control over the gambling operator, the person is required to inform the Tax and Customs Board of the intention immediately and indicate the number of shares which the person holds and transfers and will remain to hold after the transaction, and submit the information and documents specified in subsections 11 (2) and (3) of this Act regarding the person to whom the shares are transferred.

In such case, the person shall inform the Tax and Customs Board promptly after becoming aware of the loss of qualifying holding or control or the reduction of holding.
